bluesign® SYSTEM PARTNERSHIP for Chemical Suppliers

Reducing the textile industry's environmental impact must start at the very beginning of the supply chain with the companies who develop and manufacture the many chemicals upon which the industry relies. As consumer demands for responsible textiles continue to grow, the significant contributions that chemical suppliers can make become increasingly more visible and more valuable to manufacturers, brands, and retailers. Proactive chemical suppliers who are bluesign® SYSTEM PARTNERS have full access to the resources and expertise they need to develop, manufacture, and provide safe and sustainable chemical products that downstream customers require.
